THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Favorable Report of the Senate Committee—The Western Union's Practices Denounced.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The report of the senate committee on postoffices and postroads, on the subject of postal telegraph, has been completed by Senator Hill. It gives a summary of the history of the increase of debts, rentals and capital stock of the Western Union Company and the value of its property, leased and otherwise, and says: The capital stock, $80,000,000, has arisen, nearly the whole of it, from stock dividends and from purchases made of lines of other companies, which were paid for by issues of stock. It is evident, the report continues, that the prices which the Western Union paid in its stock for competing lines were vastly in excess either of the cost or earning capacity of the property acquired. It was claimed before the committee by the president of the Western Union that it had, from time to time, expended out of its current earnings considerable money on its construction account; that is to say, in addition to its lines and equipment, over and above their maintenance. This may be true, to some extent, but cannot be true to an extent justifying the enormous stock dividends which the company has made, nor was the appropriation of the current income to the construction account sufficient to prevent the payment of munificent cash dividends to the shareholders, who received in that way, from 1867 to 1883 (both inclusive) $34,000,000, in addition to stock dividends of $25,807,190.

AN ESTIMATE.

As the prices paid by the Western Union in its own stock do not average even an approximate idea of the actual cost of the lines which it has purchased from companies, and as representatives of the Western Union, which alone possess information, have given no definite or detailed account of the amounts of money it has itself expended in construction of lines, the committee have endeavored to ascertain what it would now cost to reproduce lines in every respect equal to those which the Western Union has acquired in all ways. The committee believe it to be a large estimate to assume that the number of miles of wire actually used in and necessary to its business of transmitting telegrams is 350,000. The committee believe also that the average cost of wire, including poles, construction and instruments for telegraphing, would not exceed $70 per mile, which would make a total cost of $24,500,000. The exact excess of the capitalization of the Western Union beyond the actual cost of its lines, and beyond what it would now cost to reproduce similar lines, cannot be determined. That it is enormous, is entirely plain and undisputed.

EXORBITANT CHARGES.

In reference to an inquiry whether this excess of capitalization arising from stock dividends and from purchase of other lines at inflated prices has operated injuriously in the way of increasing the charges of the Western Union for the transmission of telegrams, the committee deem it sufficient to say that their own conclusion corresponds with the opinion of the country, that its effect in that direction cannot be a matter of doubt. So long as and so far as the public has been made to believe that the nominal capital was the real one it has tended to cause acquiescence in excessive charges, while the exposure of the actual nature of the nominal capital does not diminish the pressure of the motives which impel the managers of the company to keep up the charges, which are essential to the maintenance of the present dividends.

For the purpose of relieving the country of the burden of charges for telegrams, which are too high, of making these charges more equal as between different localities and different classes of telegrams, and of guarding against the mischief and dangers of leaving the control of the telegraphic business of the country in the hands of a private company, which enjoys practically a monopoly, the committee have reported the accompanying bill (S. 2012).

EFFECT OF THE BILL.

The report says the constitutional right of the government to establish a postal telegraph is undoubted, and that there are obvious and sufficient answers to the objection that such a line will operate injuriously upon private telegraph companies.

It asserts that the passage of the postal telegraph bill will reduce the average charge per telegram from 38 cents to 25 cents immediately, and to 20 cents in five years, and secure uniformity of charges, irrespective of the amount of business in different places, for telegrams to newspapers and to commercial news associations.

Under the present telegraphic system a species of censorship, which is one most dangerous to the commerce of the country, arises in two distinct ways, each of which requires separate consideration. The first is the power which the telegraph companies themselves have of manipulating news for sinister purposes, and the second is the same power possessed by the associated press and other similar associations, not themselves owning telegraph lines, but making special contracts for the transmission of telegrams over lines owned and managed by others. It will appear that the power of the telegraph company in this respect will be entirely taken away by the pending bill, and that the power of the associated press and similar associations will be greatly reduced.

TOO MUCH POWER.

For the purpose, the report states, of giving fortunes to its managers and their friends the Western Union did not have to send untrue market quotations. It has only to give true quotations a single hour or less than that in advance to those whom it means to favor and the work is effectually accomplished. No such power should be allowed to exist in this country, even if no abuses can be shown to have occurred, or even if it is believed there have been no abuses of it. The temptation to abuse is enormous, and will sooner or later prove irresistible. The bill will effectually take that power away from the Western Union or any other private telegraph company, by the lower rates which it secures to everybody, and by the still lower rates which it secures to commercial news associations. Competition in furnishing commercial and financial news to all points and places is not to be expected under this bill, but it will be sufficient, as it insures competition in furnishing such news to more important places, whereby the field for profitable tampering with public business will be so small that the temptation will no longer constitute a danger.

The report has not yet been made the subject of a formal vote, but it is given out for publication to-day as expressive of the views of the majority of the committee.

THE PEELLE-ENGLISH CONTEST.

A Clear Case of Filibuster, in which the Democrats were Victorious.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Special.]—The republicans, aided by the votes of twenty-seven democratic members, almost succeeded in retaining Peelle of Indiana in the seat he now holds, by virtue of the most shameless and corrupt methods ever adopted. The absence of many democratic members when the final vote on the English-Peelle contested election case was taken yesterday afternoon gave the friends of Peelle a majority of three votes, and but for the promptness of Springer, in changing his vote so as to be entitled to move a reconsideration, and making that motion, and by filibustering on the democratic side, which prevented final action on the case yesterday, Peelle would have been seated and a democratic congress would have committed itself as the upholder of the most corrupt methods ever used to secure the election of any man, even in Indiana, noted for the corruption of its elections.

The case has been under consideration the last three days, and the major portion of the time has been consumed by the friends of Peelle. The friends of English, relying upon the justice of their cause, have been content to let the case rest on its merits, and desired to take a final vote on it as soon as possible.

The republicans, on the other hand, by carrying on the same principles of bulldozing and trickery by which they had counted out English, succeeded in staving off the final vote on the case till a time when a large number of democrats were absent, and succeeded in securing a vote of 121 to 117 in favor of giving Peelle the seat.

Before the result of the vote was announced Springer changed his vote, and on the announcement of the adoption of the report of the minority of the committee, he moved to reconsider the vote. Cook of Iowa moved to lay the motion on the table, and Converse of Ohio moved to adjourn. The latter motion was agreed to by a vote of 119 to 117. The case will come up again to-day as unfinished business, and it is expected a sufficient number of democrats who were absent will be in their seats to carry the motion to reconsider and give English the seat to which he was elected.

THE SHIPPING BILL AND FOREIGN MAILS.

An Amendment which will Largely Increase the Revenue of the Pacific Mail.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Special.]—Frye, one of the members of the conference committee on the part of the senate on the shipping bill, left Washington this morning, to be gone at least two weeks. His departure has dampened the ardor of those gentlemen who believed that the shipping bill would become a law at the present session of congress. The members of the conference committee on the part of the house have not yet been announced by Carlisle and a great deal of interest is manifested to know who the conferees will be. Among the amendments made to the bill by the senate is one providing that, for transportation of mails of the United States between any domestic and foreign port, a sum not exceeding one dollar per mile on the trip each way shall be paid. The bill further provides that money to be expended under this clause shall not exceed the gross revenues of the postoffice department for foreign mail service. The ships with which such contracts shall be made are to be ships of American registry only, and contracts shall be for a term of not less than four nor more than six years. It is claimed that under this clause of the bill the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. would receive in four years in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, and if gossip here is true, a large lobby has been maintained by the Pacific Mail Steamship company to secure the passage of the bill. It is charged that many members of congress have calls on Pacific Mail stock which, in the event of the passage of the bill, would be very valuable to members interested therein. The friends of the bill expect that the speaker will appoint a conference committee on the part of the house that will be able to reach an agreement with the senate conference in favor of the passage of the bill. While an amendment to the bill may be made, its friends expect it will ultimately become a law in the shape in which it was passed by the senate. There will be little or no delay to the matter because of the absence of Frye, chairman of the conference committee.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The report that the Metropolitan would be wound up was revived again to-day. Officials know nothing of this, although the directors say that the question is one to be discussed in the future.

At Donnell, Lawson & Simpson's office it was stated that they had received dispatches from creditors to the effect that any compromise proposed by them would be accepted, on receipt of the necessary papers, which have been sent. It looks as if all the firm's creditors will accept the terms offered.

JAY GOULD'S VIEWS.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Gould says: "I have proof that outside investors are heavy buyers of Western Union. In two weeks stock has been taken from the street and transferred. Concerning the merger I have very little to say. Parties with capital are anxious to get securities at the present figures, and there is every reason to suppose that we have passed through our troubles. I was talking with a prominent bank officer this morning. He declares we have nothing to fear from our associate banks and that each day brings a brighter outlook."

AN HONORABLE PROPOSITION.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Donnell, Lawson & Simpson say in a circular to their creditors: "We propose to all our creditors to pay them with our notes, payable in twelve and twenty-four months, with 6 per cent. interest, with the honorable understanding that if our business warrants it the obligations shall be discharged without respect to their maturity. This plan will enable us to resume with safety."

FERDINAND WARD ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Ferdinand Ward of the firm of Grant & Ward was arrested last evening in this city by a deputy marshal in the suit brought against him by Nelson J. Tappan, city chamberlain. Ward is held in $30,000 bail, the amount fixed in order for his arrest. He has not yet been lodged in jail, but is in custody of the sheriff. Bail has not yet been furnished by Ward.

WARD IN PRISON.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Ferdinand Ward, after spending the day in endeavoring to find $300,000 bail, was taken to the Ludlow street jail to-night and lodged in a cell there. He refuses to see any person.

Gen. U. S. Grant stated to-night that the rumor that his son, U. S. Grant, Jr., had fled to escape arrest, was wholly without foundation. His son had gone this evening to Morrison, New Jersey, where he lives, and would be at his office at the usual hour to-morrow morning. Both his sons, the general said, were in town and intended to remain here. They had no money to make a trip to Canada, even if they wanted to go there. He was very indignant that the report had been circulated, or that credence should have been given it.

GRANT ALMOST BROKEN DOWN.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—The World says: A gentleman who saw Gen. Grant a few days ago said yesterday: He is almost completely broken down by the disclosures which have become public since the failure. The shock will shorten his life many years. He converses freely with his intimate friends upon his troubles. He seeks seclusion as much as possible, and fears that he has lost the respect and confidence of the country at large. The general is so sensitive that he shuns newspapers; therefore he has still to learn of the magnitude of the collapse and the almost unparalleled extent of Ward's fraudulent operations.

SAGE PAYS OUT $6,000,000.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—The World says: Sage gave a luncheon Tuesday to Gould, Connor, Russell Sage, Jr., and others. It is reported that Gould told Sage that the latter should pay his obligations more promptly. The result is that Sage threw open his doors and received deliveries and notifications without delay. The run now is virtually over. Sage has paid out $6,000,000 in meeting his puts, and has used up five check books in paying out this money. The checks were drawn chiefly on the Importers' and Traders' bank.

INVESTIGATION AND PUNISHMENT DEMANDED.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—The Sun says: "The welfare of the community demands that the history of Grant & Ward be sifted to the bottom, and that the full penalty be inflicted without respect to persons. Ward's arrest is made at the instance of J. Nelson Tappan, a fact which in no degree obscures public conviction that Tappan is on his own defense."

MORTGAGED THE FIFTH AVENUE.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Amos R. Eno has mortgaged the Fifth Avenue hotel property to the Mutual Life Insurance Company for $1,250,000.

THE STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Governments lower; rails weaker. Share speculation was feverish and depressed. The weak spots in the market were "coalers," and Union and Central Pacific. Coal shares were affected by reports that the employes of the Reading had refused scrip for their wages, and would strike if the company insisted on forcing them. A report that mining would be stopped for two weeks in June was also used against these shares. Union Pacific dropped from 40¾ at close yesterday to 35¾, on a report that Charles Francis Adams, in an interview in Chicago, had stated that the company had not earned its dividend for the current quarter, and that none would be paid. The bears sold stock heavily on these reports.

Late in the day the following was received at the Union Pacific office in this city: "The report is out of whole cloth, and entirely without foundation. You can safely make such denial as you deem expedient of everything alleged to emanate from me.

F. L. AMES."

Central Pacific dropped from 42¾ to 33½ in sympathy. Pacific Mail was another weak spot, and after an early advance to 39 sold down to 35. Stocks broke on a rumor that the Frye shipping bill had been tabled. The fact is the bill is in the hands of the conference committee. Officials at the stock exchange say there is nothing in the condition of the company to warrant to-day's decline, business being larger than at any time for years past.

The general list was well supported in the first hour of business and a few shares showed an advance of ¼ to ⅜ per cent., but subsequent attacks on the coalers and Pacific stocks weakened the whole market. In the last fifteen minutes of business a moderate buying movement set in and prices rallied ¼ to 1½ per cent., Central Pacific being the most prominent. The market left off quiet and firm, notwithstanding the announcement of the failure of E. H. Shaw. Compared with last night's closing prices are ¾@4 per cent. lower for Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred, 1 for Northern Pacific and Central Pacific, 2½ for Pacific Mail and 3½ for Union Pacific.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Money was easy at 2@3; closed, 1½@2. Prime mercantile paper, 4@5½. Sterling exchange, bankers' bills, weak at 4 83½; demand, 4 85½.

Bonds—3s, 100; 4½s, 112¼; 4s, 120; Pacific 6s, 120.

Stocks—American 89, Canada Pacific 45½, Canada Southern 35, Central Pacific 40½, Burlington 115, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western 34¾, Denver & Rio Grande 10¾, Erie 14¼, Hannibal & St. Joe 33½, Kansas & Texas 15⅞, Lake Shore 84¼, Louisville & Nashville 31¼, Michigan Central 68, Northern Pacific 20, do preferred 46½, New York Central 104, Oregon Navigation 75, Transcontinental 13½, Oregon Imp. 14, Pacific Mail 35½, Panama 98, Rock Island 105, St. Paul 68, Texas Pacific 12½, Union Pacific 36½, U. S. Express 50, Fargo 98½, Western Union 53¾, Northwestern 105½.

THE SITUATION AT PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—A more complete understanding of the exact condition of the Pennsylvania bank and the feeling that they will be able to pay all liabilities, together with the action of the bankers last night, has had a reassuring effect, and confidence to a large extent has been restored. It was feared there would be runs on several banks that were reported on the street last night as in a weak condition, but a visit to the alleged shaky institutions at noon found that all were checking out not much greater than usual. The bankers expressed themselves as perfectly able to meet demands made on them.

The officials of the Pennsylvania bank are busy to-day getting affairs in shape for resumption to-morrow. Their clearances were made good to-day, and to-morrow they will open their doors with $600,000 in cash on the counters. Many of the largest depositors have signified an intention of allowing their money to lay in the bank, and long before the regular hour for opening this morning a number of the heaviest depositors forced their way to the side entrance and insisted on making deposits. The bank refused to accept, however, until they resume to-morrow.

On the floor of the exchange there was not much doing. The oil market opened firm and advanced to 76, but dropped off at noon to 74¼. The feeling is unsettled, and no orders are coming in.

MEETING OF DEPOSITORS.

NEWARK, N. J., May 22.—Last night there was a meeting of the depositors of the Newark Savings institution, which are composed of Germans and English. A letter was read giving assurances that a hundred cents on the dollar will be paid. A committee was appointed to inquire into the condition of the bank.

FAILURE AT RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, Va., May 22.—Ellett, Dewey & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers, have assigned. Liabilities, $290,000; assets not known. Dewey thinks they will pay dollar for dollar. Preferred creditors amount to $103,000.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL ASSOCIATION.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The Transcontinental Railway Association resumed its session this forenoon. As a condition to joining the proposed money pool the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road urges that the Union Pacific withdraw from the tripartite alliance. Whether this will be urged to the point of breaking off all negotiations will probably be determined at the session this afternoon.

The matter was discussed at the afternoon session. It was urged by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe that the Union Pacific could not deal fairly with both the members of the money pool and the members of the tripartite association at the same time. It was finally decided, however, to continue the transcontinental association, and not form a money pool. The Union Pacific withdrew its notice of withdrawal therefrom, which was to have gone into effect May 24. The Texas Pacific and the Missouri Pacific were admitted to the association. Another meeting will be held to-morrow morning.

Cable Steamer Faraday.

ROCKPORT, Mass., May 22.—The arrival of the steamship Faraday was greeted by thousands of people. Amid the firing of cannon the shore end was landed and will be connected with the section previously buoyed 250 miles east of Rockport. The citizens tendered a reception to the officers, but they declined until the cable was completed. When the Faraday steams away this afternoon she will proceed to the buoy 250 miles northeast, where she will splice the cable, thus making a complete circuit from Dover bay to Rockport. Then she will steam thirty miles east to Dover bay, take up and splice the shore end from Dover bay toward the Irish coast. When this splice is made she will sail for Ireland, paying out the thousand miles deep sea section. She then will buoy the end section and proceed to London for the remainder of the deep sea section. After taking this on board she will go back to her buoy and finish laying the deep sea section to the Irish coast.

Tremendous Rainfall.

GALVESTON, May 22.—News' specials from Tyler, Martin, Navasota, Crockett, Waverly and other points in north eastern Texas, report another heavy rainfall yesterday, continuing into the night. This makes the fourth unusually heavy rainfall in that section since the first of May. Immense tracts of country are flooded. Such tremendous rains have not been known in Texas for many years. Great damage to crops have already resulted. In some sections crops had been planted twice, and must now be planted again. At Weatherford the rainfall for the past twenty-four hours is over eight inches; at Corsicana five inches; at Dallas, Palestine, Tyler and other points, four inches.

GALVESTON, May 22.—Specials to the News from all points in the state indicate that recent rains are the heaviest known in Texas. In portions of the areas it had never been surpassed within the history of the state. It is thought that 150 miles of the Houston and Texas Central track is under water to an average depth of nearly two feet.

Arrival of Oregon Salmon.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—The first of eight refrigerator cars designed for bringing salmon from Portland, Or., to New York, arrived Monday. With the car was an attendant, who kept the temperature about twenty degrees above zero. The salmon were delivered at the car at a cost of 5 cents a pound, and the freight charges across the continent was about 7 cents. They retail in this city at about twenty cents a pound. The enterprise will be remunerative. The fish were packed in boxes, with crushed ice over and under them. Six or seven salmon were in each box; 100 boxes made a car load. The car was pulled to St. Paul on a passenger train, and thence by freight to New York. Arrangements are making to send cars the entire distance on passenger schedule, reducing the time from nine to seven days.

The Yellowstone Park Hotel.

ST. PAUL, May 22.—[Special.]—Geo. B. Hulme of Wyoming, receiver for Rufus Hatch's Yellowstone Hotel Company, who was appointed in the interest of Jno. Douglass and other anti-Hatch stockholders, has come out of the park and reported the entire failure of his errand. He found nothing could be done in the way of perfecting any arrangement. The men decline even to discuss the situation. There are thirty of these men and their total claims up to May 10 is $16,000. The men say they are sure of being secured for their wages while they stay in the hotel, and if they leave it they are in a spot where no law can protect them.

Report of Board of Publication.

SARATOGA, May 21.—In the Presbyterian general assembly, the forty-sixth annual report of the board of publication was submitted. Total issues during the year are 1,789,500; aggregate publications, 15,195,566; receipts, $308,393; expenditures, $287,210. Balance in the treasury, $21,176. During the year the board called for $75,000 for a missionary fund for the ensuing year. Rev. Dr. Alexander submitted a report from the standing committee, on the board of publication. A minority report was also submitted. Pending the discussion, the assembly adjourned.

Two Lively Gales.

GALVESTON, May 22.—Information has been received of a cyclone 200 yards wide which passed between Fairfield and Stewartsville yesterday at noon. Forests were uprooted in its pathway. Farmers are now out ascertaining the extent of the damages by following the track. A special from Hempstead reports that a tornado passed through the country yesterday morning, sweeping everything before it. A child six weeks old was blown sixty yards unhurt. A house containing five negroes was blown down. All escaped except one child, which was killed.

The Cattle Trade.

ST. LOUIS, May 22.—A prominent cattle man of Texas, who has just returned from an extensive tour in the cattle region and some of the northern markets, says that the outlook for beeves is very fine. He reports that some advanced herds from Texas have already arrived at Dodge City, Kansas, and says the season's drive from Texas will be larger than for ten years and will probably reach half a million head.

Custer's Old Horse Dead.

VINCENNES, Ind., May 22.—The famous old horse ridden by General Custer in his Indian campaigns died here last night. He was the property of Dr. W. F. Carver, the marksman.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY WORK.

Meeting of the Publication Society at Detroit—Large Attendance.

DETROIT, May 21.—Anniversaries of various missionary societies of the Baptist denominations began this afternoon in this city. The annual meetings of four of the societies whose constituencies are largely in the northern states occur here this week. The first society to hold its meeting was the American Baptist Publication Society. Edward Goodman of Chicago presided. The report of the board showed that the past year had been the most prosperous in the history of of the society. Receipts from all sources have been $582,037 58, of which $131,381 54 was for the missionaries' department. This was an increase of over $60,000. One hundred and eighty-three missionaries and secretaries have been employed, and 136,358 bibles and testaments have been given away, and 617 new schools organized. At the afternoon session the Rev. Mr. Carter created a sensation by saying in his address that the popularity of the society could be seen by the remark of a certain Sunday school teacher who informed his scholars that the American Society was the author of the book of Acts.

THURSDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

DETROIT, May 22.—The American Baptist Publication Society, having headquarters in Philadelphia, continued its meeting to-day. The church was thronged, fully 1500 delegates from all parts of the country being present. Officers were elected for the coming year.

At the morning session the society was addressed by Rev. O. P. Gifford, of Boston, on the attitude that the Baptist church should occupy towards the American Bible Society. This was to let that society alone.

C. Dixon of Baltimore delivered an eloquent address. A spirited debate sprung up on funding money and using the interest, rather than using the principal at once.

Sunday school work was considered this afternoon. The large edifice of the First Baptist church was crammed. James Waters of Tennessee described the field and the call for work.

Rev. W. S. Chase of Minneapolis urged that the society be vigorously sustained. The receipts for the past year in the three departments surpass those of previous years. The grand total is $582,037 57, an increase of $61,088 42. Thirty-seven new publications have been issued during the year, of which 612,509 copies were printed, an excess over the past year of 51,484 copies. One hundred and seventy-eight missionaries have been in service the past year, distributed through all the states and territories of the United States. Five hundred and seventy-nine Sunday schools were organized in the United States, besides those in Mexico and Sweden, and have been furnished 136,358 bibles, testaments and parts of the scriptures for gratuitous distribution.

The evening session, held in the crowded opera house, considered the society's work among colored people.

THE TURF.

GOVERNOR STANFORD'S MOVEMENTS AND INTENTIONS.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—Stanford goes to California in two weeks. He will at once draw up plans for a great institution of learning at Palo Alto. Work will help divert the minds of himself and wife, and the fruits will be dedicated to the memory of their dead son. The school will become as great a monument to the name of Stanford as is already his vast breeding venture, which is based upon an unselfish purpose. While in England Stanford purchased sixteen of the choicest thoroughbred mares that he could find. These have foals by the most famous sires, and they have been bred to such stallions as Isonomy and Hermit. They will be imported into the United States in the fall, and will prove a great addition to the running department of the Palo Alto breeding enterprise. It is the intention of Governor Stanford to enter into rivalry with the blue grass district of Kentucky in producing thoroughbreds, as he already has successfully done in turning out trotters. Colts which have the fastest one-year-old, two-year-old, three year-old and four-year-old trotting record were bred at Palo Alto.

THE WORLD OF POLITICS.

Butler Accepts the Anti-Monopolist Nomination for President.

THE VIEWS OF A NORTH CAROLINA DEMOCRAT.

The New York "Herald" Nominates Morton—Proceedings of the Nebraska Democratic Convention—Etc.

NEW YORK, May 22.—General Butler accepts the nomination of the national anti-monopoly organization for president of the United States. Following is his letter of acceptance:

LOWELL, MASS., May 21.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to receive your courteous note, giving me the action of the convention at Chicago, the 14th inst., of the representatives of the anti-monopoly party. The honor of the designation by such body as candidate for the presidency of the republic cannot be too highly appreciated. Concurring in each measure of public policy set forth in the resolutions, I need only add that if the votes of the electors shall intrust me with the executive powers of that high office, each of them shall be fully, justly and energetically used to make every measure of relief to the people and reform in the government pointed out by your platform. Accept for yourselves, personally, my most grateful consideration.

BENJ. F. BUTLER.

VIEWS OF A NORTH CAROLINA MAN.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Special.]—A North Carolina politician and friend of Congressman Scales, who will be the next democratic candidate for governor in that state, said to your correspondent to-day: "If the democrats are not very careful we will be beaten in North Carolina next fall. In making this statement I proceed upon the assumption that Blaine will be nominated at Chicago, and that the democrats will select as their standard bearer some other man than Tilden. With Blaine in the field any democrat nominated upon the Carlisle-Morrison free trade idea would be hopelessly beaten in our state. The democrats of North Carolina like Blaine, because of his bold, manly, courageous, American ideas. He is not a jerk or a coward, and our people would rather see him president than any republican who could be named. The Greensboro district, in which I live, is the largest manufacturing district in the state, and a great majority of the people favor protection and are bitterly opposed to free trade. The sentiment in favor of protection is growing daily, and with it an increased desire on the part of the people, if we can't elect a democratic president, to vote for a republican who will represent the views of the southern people. Blaine is such a man. The democratic candidate for governor of North Carolina will be Representative Scales, and he will be elected, but if a revenue reform democrat is nominated at the second Chicago convention, and Blaine is the republican candidate, he will be almost certain to get the electoral vote of the state.

SENATOR PLUMB'S VIEWS.

Plumb, who is a delegate from Kansas to the republican convention, thinks that Blaine will be nominated by the republicans, and Tilden by the democrats. If not Tilden, Plumb thinks the democratic candidate will be an eastern man, possibly McPherson of New Jersey.

The acceptance by Governor Butler of the greenback labor nomination has attracted the attention of the democratic politicians to his availability as a candidate, and while older politicians, with hardly an exception, scout the idea of his candidacy, the younger ones think that he might win in Massachusetts, besides carrying New York and Indiana.

THE "HERALD" NOMINATES LEVI P. MORTON.

NEW YORK, May 22.—[Special.]—The Herald offers Levi P. Morton as a compromise candidate for the business men who cannot take Arthur, and republicans who recognize the necessity of carrying New York. It says: "To sacrifice Arthur for Blaine would be the death knell of Blaine in New York. Morton is a business man. As minister to France he has shown a remarkable aptitude for the place, and has mastered the intricacies of Blaine's South American policy, so that if he should come to the presidency he would have an invaluable acquaintance with that subject. He has proven himself a zealous and discreet defender of his country's rights in foreign trade.

NEBRASKA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 22.—The democratic state convention was called to order at Schuyler this evening. An hour was spent over temporary organization, which was finally effected by electing B. A. Hinman of Lincoln county chairman. The following platform was adopted:

We, the delegates of the democratic party of the state of Nebraska, in convention assembled, submit the following platform of resolutions and measures:

First, we demand vigorous frugality in every department and from every officer of the government; and we heartily concur in the sentiment that no reform of administration is possible so long as the government is directed by a party under the domination of false doctrines and animated by pecuniary interests, and interested in the perpetuation of existing abuses; that the first effectual attempt to reform our government must be a fundamental change in the policy of its administration.

Second—That in view of the unequal and discriminating operations of the existing tariff, and the unjust and excessive burdens imposed on the people, we are in favor of a revision which shall limit it to the production of the necessary revenues for the government, economically administered, and that should be so adjusted as to prevent, as far as possible, unequal burdens upon labor, and to bear the most heavily on articles of luxury and lightly on articles of necessity; we believe such a revision of the tariff laws, simplified in their operation and administration, will decrease the growth of monopolies, prevent oppression and spoliation and the unequal distribution of wealth, and abolish special and class legislation.

Resolved, That as our fathers, under the lead of Thomas Jefferson, rescued our republic from the control of federalism, and the alien and sedition laws of the elder Adams, so will the democratic party in 1884, if united, hurl the republican party from power and elect Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas Hendricks president and vice president of the United States.

The balloting for delegates at large resulted in the election of the James E. Boyd of Douglass county, J. Sterling Morton of Otoe, W. H. Munger of Dodge, and Tobias Castor of Saline. The delegates are for Tilden. Adjourned.

ELECTION AT DANVILLE.

DANVILLE, Va., May 22.—The election passed off without disturbance. The democratic or white party nominees were elected. Captain Graves beat J. H. Johnston, the present incumbent for mayor, by 402 votes. About seventy negroes voted the democratic ticket. One hundred did not vote. Governor Cameron came up this morning and remained till the afternoon. He said pleasantly that he had received a carpet bag full of letters about sending troops, and had come to see for himself and was pleased with the order. Mayor Johnson was hanged in effigy. A torchlight procession was held to-night.

THE FIRST GUN.

PETERSBURG, Va., May 22.—The republican general ticket was elected. The republicans carried every ward in the city except one. United States Senator Mahone was serenaded.

WILL MEET AT SARATOGA.

ALBANY, May 22.—The democratic state convention will meet at Saratoga on June 18.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

A BISHOP AND EDITOR ELECTED.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—The Methodist conference have elected to the African Methodist Episcopal bishopric William Taylor of the south India conference. Dr. B. F. Crary was elected editor of the California Christian Advocate.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—In the afternoon session of the Methodist Episcopal conference the committee on state of the church discussed the question of the future policy of the church toward social prejudices in the south which, in some places, exclude colored people from church membership and school attendance with whites. A sub-committee presented two reports. The majority report declared that no person should be excluded from worship in any church, nor from attendance upon any school, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The minority report declares that color is no bar to any right and privileges of membership or office in a church, but "recognizes no propriety of such administration as will secure the largest concession to any person of all privileges involving merely social relations," and concluded that therefore there was no need for action upon this subject. After a long discussion the minority question was ordered, and the majority report was adopted.

THURSDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—At the Methodist Episcopal conference the ceremony of consecrating the bishops elect was proceeded with. The new bishops were J. M. Walden, M. F. Mallalieu, C. D. Fowler, W. X. Ninde and William Taylor. Bishop Simpson presided, assisted by other bishops in performing the consecration ceremonies.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT-CHAT.

THE MEXICAN TREATY.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Special.]—It is expected that the president, within a few days, will make proclamation of the ratification of the treaty entered into between the United States and Mexico. To make this treaty effectual, legislation is required by congress, and a bill will be introduced in the house as soon as the official notification of the ratification of the treaty is received by the president. It is expected that the president will send a message to congress on this subject within the next few days, and that the bill to carry the treaty into effect will pass at the present session of congress.

SLATER CALLS FOR INFORMATION.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—[Special.]—Slater in the senate to-day offered a resolution calling upon the president for information concerning the appointment of commissioners to report on sections of the Northern Pacific railroad which were constructed and completed subsequent to the time within which, by the terms of the act of July 1, 1864, the road was required to be completed.

REPORTED FAVORABLY.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Senator Mitchell has reported favorably to the senate from his committee, with amendments the bill introduced by him early in the session to provide for the amendment of the pension law, in conformity with suggestions made by the commissioner of pensions in his last annual report.

THE FIRE RECORD.

COURT HOUSE AND RECORDS BURNED.

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill., May 22.—News has just been received from Elizabethtown that the Hardin county court house with all its records has been consumed by an incendiary fire. There has been a band of semi-lawless men in that county for several years and numerous killings have resulted. Finally the law-abiding citizens took hold of the matter, and caused indictments to be found against a large number of these turbulent characters. It is the general belief that the court house was fired for the purpose of destroying the records of these indictments in order to embarrass the proceedings against them.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

News Notes from Victoria.

VICTORIA, May 22.—The weather throughout British Columbia is dry and sultry.

In consequence of the recent death of Prince Leopold the queen's birthday will not be officially observed on Saturday in Canada or Great Britain. Coronation day, the 28th of June, will be observed as a public holiday instead.

A little boy, while running to a fire on Wednesday night, was run over by a hose cart. His life is despaired of.

Complaint is made by firms who own tow boats that much of the towing in these waters is done by American tugs. Several vessels have been towed to Nanaimo recently by the American boats and a demand is made on the Dominion government for a proclamation forbidding this violation of the coasting laws.

Arrived—Steamship Idaho from Sitka. She reports heavy rains on the northern coast, and brings fifteen passengers, among them six invalid sailors from the U. S. S. Adams, on their way to Mare Island. On their up trip, when near Wrangle, the Idaho sighted a huge bear swimming between two islands, and captured him. At Takou mining operations were in a quiet state, awaiting the opening of spring.

A great mass meeting was held at the City hall to-night, to denounce gambling. The hall and its approaches were densely crowded. Many ladies were present. Resolutions denouncing gambling, applauding the action of the mayor in suppressing it, and calling on the city to bear the expenses of the prosecutions were unanimously passed. This meeting, it is believed, will give gambling its death blow.

Killed by a Horse.

GOLDENDALE, W. T., via THE DALLES, May 21.—[Special.]—E. French, an old settler living about a mile from this place, was thrown from a horse this morning, his foot being caught in the stirrup. At this the animal became frightened, and kicking Mr. French in the head fractured his skull. He lived about four hours after the accident occurred, but did not regain consciousness. He leaves a wife and five children. His funeral will take place to-morrow.

"PLUNGER" WALTON GETS A THRASHING.

LONDON, May 22.—[Special.]—The quarrel between "Plunger" Walton and the German horse doctor Loeffler culminated in a fight yesterday, about the professional charges of the latter. Some ugly epithets were exchanged. Mr. Walton got angry and finally struck the horse doctor on the nose. Loeffler held in his hand a stout riding whip and retorted by roundly belaboring "Plunger" on the head and shoulders with the weapon. The fight continued for ten minutes. Walton made pretty good use of his fists but on the whole got rather the worst of the battle. Policemen separated the combatants. Lawsuits will follow.

Astorian: A slight improvement is reported in the run of salmon this week.

Charles Jackson, who deserted from Fort Canby a few days ago, has been captured and returned.

J. Shubert's boy Henry, 5½ years old, was kicked by a horse on Tuesday noon. The animal was feeding, and the boy coming too near his hind heels, it let fly. The boy's jaw bone is broken in two places, and the entire cheek laid open, and besides his collar bone is fractured.

J. P. Blanchard died on the 16th at the age of 64. He arrived in Oregon City on September 14, 1851, from Peoria, Ill., which place he left on April 1 of the same year, shortly after his marriage on January 12. He was one of the veterans of the Mexican war. He joined company B, mounted riflemen, in Peoria in 1846, and returned in 1848, after the termination of the war. In the Mexican war he contracted a complication of diseases, from which he never recovered, and which eventually carried him to the grave. Mr. Blanchard was the father of ten children, five of whom are still living. He was a native of Vermont.

A few days since, while James Driver, a well-to-do farmer living on the Walla Walla river, was absent from home, some one went through his trunk and carried off about $240 deposited therein. No clue has been found to the robber.

Last Saturday evening a little son of Rollin Smith of White river was drowned in that stream. The child, with a sister 5 years old, he being 7 years of age, were playing on the bank of the stream when the boy, more venturesome than his sister, drew too near the bank of the stream, and slipping, fell into it. The girl ran immediately and gave the alarm, and the mother and others made all possible haste to save the boy, but too late. When they reached the stream nothing was to be seen of the little fellow. The body has not been recovered.

Idaho.

Recently, says the Walla Walla Statesman, a miners' meeting was held in Eagle City to determine to whom twenty acres of mining ground located on Dream gulch belonged. Mr. Myer, who addressed the meeting on behalf of those whose claims were unjustly ousted, stated in effect that the claim had fallen into the hands of fighting men, and the intention seemed to be to wrest the title from his party by force. Mr. Holman, who held title to five acres of the ground from the Myer party, stated that although that party was the first locator, their location was irregular and imperfect, and that the adverse claimants had acquired a better title by fully complying with the district laws. He intimated that he regarded his ownership as simply a fighting title, and that Myers had passed it to him in order to have his own interest protected, and stated that he would now relinquish all claim to the ground. Mr. Myers denied the statement in a very excited manner, giving the lie to Holman, when that gentleman, revolver in hand, started toward him. Fortunately the room was so crowded that Holman was unable to reach Myers, or to fire without endangering the lives of others. The incident created a panic, and the meeting was broken up without the formality of an adjournment, the crowd surging out of the building, carrying with it both disputants at a safe distance from each other, and keeping them apart, even after they had reached the street.

EX GOV. CHADWICK ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

SALEM, May 20, 1884.

To the Editor of the New Northwest:—It is now very near the time when the proposed amendment to our constitution to remove the legal obstacle that now prevents women from exercising the right of the ballot—a right that belongs to woman as much as it does to man—will be adopted or rejected. All that can be done in this brief period is to present the question in its non-partisan light and strip it of prejudice as far as possible. The friends of this question should work to this end. It stands upon its merits, and when once properly understood, its force cannot be successfully resisted. It is not the crafty creature of a partisan platform, nor the sole measure of any one of the leading political parties. This right of suffrage for woman is recognized by both republicans and democrats, and in advocating it they are not known as members of either political party. But they sustain the measure because it commends itself to every citizen as one that is just and of right belongs to women. Miss Willard is credited with saying that there should be no sex in politics. This is true. I recognize in this effort to place the ballot in the hand of woman the result of a higher civilization. The world is moving on, and the more familiar our people become with the principles of government and duties of citizens, the rights due to woman as a co-worker in all matters involving interests and responsibilities in our political economy will not only be recognized, but will become a valuable factor in our mutual obligations as citizens. This is one of those sleepless questions that will never die. It is vital to our prosperity as a people, and though the day of its great achievement may possibly be a little way off, it will be so but for a short time. Very respectfully,

S. F. CHADWICK.

Merinos and their Uses.

Our Country Home.

The breed of sheep most prominent in this country is undoubtedly the Merino. They are extensively bred in Vermont, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas and elsewhere, and fabulous prices are sometimes paid for them. It is not an uncommon thing for a ram to be sold for $1000 or even $2000. There were a few years just after the war when they were in small request, but during the past decade Merinoes have regained the place they formerly held. They are esteemed because they have merits possessed by no other sheep. The ultimate of the sheep business is wool. Especially is this the case in the southwest and on the ranches now established on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains—Colorado, Wyoming, and even so far to the northward as Montana. It is to supply the wants of ranchmen that the chief efforts of breeders in the eastern and middle states are directed. In their purity the Merinos are exceedingly valuable as producers of wool. Their fleeces are the finest in the world—and the heaviest. These qualities they transmit when crossed with other breeds. In Texas, for instance, a Merino ram is used upon the native or Mexican sheep, and an animal yielding a largely increased and improved fleece is the result. The mixed breed thus produced is also hardier than the native stock, and therefore better able to endure the storms which every now and then sweep across that state. Last winter, it will be remembered, Texas shepherds lost heavily from this cause. Hence it will be seen that the high prices paid for the best Merinos are justified by the results. And there is another reason why these sheep, as raised in the north, will be sought after as long as the wool business continues to pay—which it must, if properly conducted, to the end of time. All animals reared in a cold climate have heavier, thicker, and consequently finer coverings than when bred in more temperate regions. This is true of the sheep. Those raised in the north have finer fleeces than those of the south. Therefore, in order to improve the southern sheep, northern blood is necessary. But when taken south, the sheep deteriorates with respect of fleece originally produced in the same manner. It seems to be clear, then, that northern breeders will always have a market for their sheep—a market produced by natural laws.

Why Blaine is Distrusted.

Providence Press, rep.

Mr. Blaine will come before the Chicago convention as the exponent of a dangerous state policy, which a public calamity happily cut short, and as a man possessed of the entire confidence of "machine" politicians throughout the country. He can lay claim to the earnest support of but three of the leading republican journals of the country—the New York Tribune, the Chicago Tribune, and the Philadelphia Press—while in more or less bitter opposition to him are arrayed four fifths of the republican press. The leading business men of the country distrust his statesmanship as illustrated in his South American policy, inaugurated during his brief term of office as secretary of state, and a large and respectable body of the republican electors of the country regard with anything but high esteem his congressional career. He is openly accused by leading republican journals of questionable transactions while a member of congress, and is condemned in unsparing terms by the independent republican voters throughout the land, without whose support the republican party cannot hope for success in the approaching campaign. They simply say they will not vote for Mr. Blaine.

Why it is So.

Albany Journal.

The reason why Mr. Edmunds would be stronger in New York state than General Arthur or Mr. Blaine is because he would command the independent vote, and the reason why the independent vote cannot be ignored is because it holds the balance of power in the state of New York. It will not do to underrate the strength of the independent voters of New York. They were strong in 1882, they were strong in 1883 and they are stronger in 1884. Nor do we mean by "independents" the self-important, egotistical, denunciatory and proclamatory few, who are independents only so long as they are not flattered and purchased with smiles and favors. These are not the independents of to-day. If they were no words would be wasted on them. The independents of to-day are strong because they are in earnest, because they are sincere, and, better yet, because they are right. The party that refuses to believe this will make a costly mistake.

the state of New York shall be secured for the republican candidate for the presidency, whoever he may be—Blaine, Arthur, Edmunds, Logan, Sherman, Hawley, Fairchild or whomsoever else." In order to execute this plan it was necessary that the registration of voters and the counting of votes should be controlled by O'Brien. In an interview last February he disclosed the whole plan when he boasted of being a "practical politician" and of knowing how to use "the devil's weapons" in politics. "In order to secure the state of New York," said O'Brien in that interview, "we (the republicans) are obliged to have at least 30 per cent. of the vote of the cities, principally New York and Brooklyn," and "it isn't going to be child's play to get it," and he added his disbelief that any "better man" than himself could be found "to organize the work in this city."

O'Brien is the head of the republican machine in New York city, and it is his conduct and the methods of which it forms a part which so disgusts decent republicans and swells the ranks of the independents. One of the heaviest political burdens which President Arthur has to carry is the reputation of relying upon O'Brien and other "boys," and thus endorsing their methods. The defeat of this bill, which was necessary to supplement the reform legislation already accomplished by Mr. Roosevelt, was expressly urged by the machine republicans, on the ground that O'Brien was worth "thousands of democratic votes" to the republican party, and it was also said in the debate that it was quite easy for such an official to appoint election district inspectors and clerks who would falsify returns. But in spite of these statements thirty-nine republicans voted with twenty-four democrats to continue O'Brien's control over the votes of freemen in New York city. It may turn out to be as costly a venture to the machine as the proxy of Steve French two years ago. The number of republicans who will not stand everything, even in a presidential year, is larger than ever before, and the reasons for party fidelity are much weaker. There is no great overpowering issue like the war, and the questions arising out of it, to call for a stretch of conscience or sacrifice of self-respect this year, and this is what makes states doubtful—more doubtful, we suspect, than the political managers imagine.

GREETINGS OF THE DAY.

There are several ways of managing the matter of mutual recognition and greeting as common acquaintances and every-day sort of friends meet each other, from time to time, in their habitual rounds; and some of these ways, though all of them are well enough meant, are doubtless much more agreeable than others. Generally speaking—and especially if a man happens to be in a hurry, or is out of humor, or really a little "under the weather" and doesn't want to own it—that way of asking after his health which seems to call for the story of last night's sleeplessness, this morning's headache, that old cold that hangs on, or this touch of rheumatism, is very disagreeable. And, on the other hand, to be obliged to listen in response to one's own question, made for mere form's sake, to the detailed account of the other party's ailments, is almost as bad; indeed, it is a good deal worse, for one can make his own reluctant story as short as he pleases; but who, without rudeness, shall put the period in the right place to another man's gratuitous recital of his various aches and pains.

When old acquaintances come together after long separation there is a propriety in these special inquiries. When attached friends meet, no matter how often, they may say what they please to each other and it is all right. When a man is rallying from a fit of sickness and begins to creep out among folks, he expects interested inquiries as to his health and usually answers them with cheerful, if not elaborate particularity. But as ordinary acquaintances meet, from time to time, under the circumstances of their everyday life, the conventional "how do you do?" is, properly, but a mere form of courtesy, its function being simply the expression of respectful personal consideration and good will. This use of it, as the habit of a man's life, can give offense to no one unless it be, now and then, a man who seems to be nursing some pet infirmity, apparently for the mere purpose of talking about it; while on the other hand, it would doubtless save many sensitive people much annoyance, especially a large class who, never having robust health, are tired of perpetually hearing and answering the same old inquiries.

With most people who do this disagreeable kind of button-holeing, and persist in getting all the particulars about the state of his health from every man they succeed in waylaying, it is probably a mere matter of thoughtless habit, which possibly may have come about in the first place from an honest but misguided purpose to show a neighborly interest in others' welfare. But however good the motive and however well-meaning the inquisition, the habit is a dreadfully bad one and makes a great bore of many a nature otherwise engaging and amiable.

We know a confirmed invalid who, to his own great joy, thinks he has at last succeeded in passing himself off with the world as a well man, by dint of a systematic course of white lying on the subject of his health. His invariable answer when asked how he is, no matter what the fact may be, is "a very well, I thank you," uttered in a tone entirely gracious but quite conventional. Thus said, it has a certain savor of finality about it which usually settles the question at once and so saves him a great deal of trouble. Surely for such kind of harmless fibbing, considering the provocation, a man should not be very severely judged.

One of Blaine's strongest New England supporters, who had returned recently from Washington to Boston, was asked by a reporter the meaning of the rumored alliance between Conkling and Blaine forces. "Oh, you needn't laugh at the story," was the reply, "for it is true. You know Conkling wants to go back to the senate. He realizes that it will be impossible unless he can placate the half-breeds. Now, it is a fact, and I have it from Blaine himself that Platt has offered him the unreserved support of Conkling and his friends as against Arthur in the Chicago convention. Conkling calculates that such a course will settle all old scores and leave the field clear of all opposition to his return to the senate."

General Grant, according to George W. Childs, has the income from $250,000, which is so well invested as to yield $15,000 a year and no risks. It would appear from this that he stands about as little in need of "relief" as anybody.

since their interests are so mixed up in commercial enterprises; but should such a calamity occur most of the fast steamships of Great Britain would be withdrawn from commerce and armed with heavy batteries. In such a case how long would it take a steamer like the Oregon or Alaska to capture all our small armed vessels of low speed, or drive them from the ocean? Wherever we had any commerce, the sea would swarm with these converted merchant steamers, and they would effectually control it. If we are to build any ships at all we ought to build such as can effectually cope with these, and it would be well to try the experiment of some half dozen, so that we may know what we want and not be wholly unprepared. Again, no matter how fast a vessel may be unless her guns are powerful, she will have but little prestige. In time of war, especially in a war involving England or France, their merchant steamers will go heavily armed, and will be able either to beat off, run away from, or capture our small cruisers; and hence it is worse than useless to continue building the class of vessels that now constitute our so-called navy. There is now no use whatever of building vessels like the Kearsarge (which destroyed the Alabama) either to act as cruisers or to defend the coast. The money would be thrown away.

The torpedo system is the proper one for defending our harbors. This defense can be provided cheaply and quickly, but it ought not to be altogether postponed till it may suddenly be wanted. At present there is not a harbor in the country where an ordinary ironclad cannot pass the batteries, choosing its own time for doing so. These things demand the attention of congress. The cost would be moderate, while hundreds of millions might be expended upon the old system without providing any real means of attack or defense.

To all who have been accustomed to observe political movements in Multnomah it is apparent that the chances for very full republican majorities have been improving steadily during the past week. "Fusion" in this county never was popular or strong. Since the present fusion movement was undertaken, and especially since its ticket was presented, it has gained nothing from any quarter. Not all the republicans who were in it at the start are still with it, and it fails, as THE OREGONIAN predicted, to awaken the interest among the democrats necessary to secure their whole vote. In fact, it is now certain that "fusion," as heretofore, will lose more democrats than it will gain republicans. From present appearance the republican majorities will be something like those of two years ago.

The republicans of the counties of Wasco, Crook, Lake and Klamath are fortunate in their selection of a candidate for joint senator. Mr. Charles M. Cartwright, who has been selected for that position, has for many years been identified with the stock growing interests of Crook county, where he resides, and thoroughly understands the wants and wishes of the people east of the Cascade range. Besides this he is one of our most successful business men, his great energy in business always being backed by excellent judgment. He is not much of a politician or party man, and does not wear the collar of any clique or ring; but he will be one of the shrewdest men in either house, as the politicians will find when they set themselves about "getting away with him."

If the bill to place General Grant on the retired list, with the rank and full pay of general of the army, becomes a law he will be entitled to about $19,000 a year, that being the amount of the salary and commutation of a general. The pay of the general of the army was $13,500 before that office ceased to exist. Commutation for quarters is allowed at the rate of $125 a month, and the commutation for rations and other allowances will make up the additional $4000. If anybody wants him to have any more money to gamble with, we hope they will pay it out of their own pockets.

A native born Oregonian comes to the front in the person of A. R. Lyle, one of the republican nominees for joint representative for Wasco and Crook counties. He is a Polk county boy, his parents having been among the earliest settlers of that county. He has lived east of the mountains for a good many years, and has a large cattle ranch near the line dividing the two counties. Polk county people are proud of him, and from what we learn of his character they have reason to be so.

President Arthur is very popular with the democrats. "He is a good man," says Mr. Dana, "and has made a very respectable president." "He is not a great man," says Chairman Barnum, "but he has given us the cleanest administration since Lincoln's."

When such men as Yocum and George P. Riley are the chief speakers for a "great movement in politics," there is danger that some may think the "movement" wanting in dignity, influence and character.

A TURNED-BACK LEAF.

Among the virtues of Mr. Flinn, candidate for the supreme bench, it is mentioned that he never was an active partisan, and never participated to any extent in politics. He was, however, "partisan" enough, and did "participate" enough to preside over a meeting at Albany in 1882, which put forth the following false resolutions. We quote the entire proceedings of the meeting as published in the Albany papers:

A meeting of citizens was held in Parish's hall in this city last evening, for the purpose of passing resolutions endorsing Hon. John H. Mitchell, and commending the action of the majority of the republican members of the legislature in voting for him for United States senator. Judge Flinn was elected chairman and Dr. E. R. Barker secretary. The following resolutions were unanimously passed:

WHEREAS, Hon. John H. Mitchell became the regular caucus nominee by a two-thirds vote of all the republican members of the Oregon legislature, and,

WHEREAS, By the action of the minority of the republican members of the legislature legislation is being delayed; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, 1. That we endorse the action of all members of the legislature, both republicans and democrats alike, in casting their votes for Hon. John H. Mitchell for United States senator.

2. That it is expected that where a majority of the republican members of the legislature deliberately express their preference for senator, the minority will come to his support and help elect him.

3. That the democratic members of the legislature, to-wit: Messrs. Siglin, Sifers, Curtis and Long, who have cast their ballots for Mr. Mitchell, are entitled to great credit and respect for their independent action, regardless of press comments and corrupt influences, deeming that while democrats are in the minority, it is their privilege and right to select from among republican candidates for United States senator.

4. That the republicans of the legislature who are supporting Mr. Mitchell by their votes are commendable, and that we would cheerfully indorse a continuation of their course until an election is effected.

5. That we have confidence in the honesty and integrity of the republican members opposing the republican nominee, but earnestly believe that they are being misled by the misrepresentation of THE OREGONIAN and its cliquers.

6. That we have every confidence in the purpose of Hon. John H. Mitchell, if elected to the senate, to use his utmost endeavors to forward the interests of the Willamette valley, as well as all other portions of the state of Oregon. L. FLINN, Chairman.

E. R. BARKER, Secretary.

SAND AND SOME WATER.—The delegates to the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Astoria, are straggling back and from the yarns they tell one another, they had lots of fun during their sojourn by the sea. A delegate, commonly known as Col. ——, had a great desire to feast on shad, and after much trouble secured one and placed it in the ice box at his hotel. A number of his friends who ate at the same table endeavored to substitute a sucker in the place of the shad. They found the sucker but could not find the shad, and so the only thing left was for them to tell the colonel when he was enjoying his shad that it was a sucker which they had played on him. He was not, however, to be played for a sucker, and refused to bite at the story; but it got out all the same and he was unmercifully and unjustly bantered. The joke was put up by Major ——, and during the excursion to the cape the colonel took occasion to get even on him by placing a soda bottle filled with plain salt water in his way. The major asked a lady friend to drink with him, and cautiously removing the cork, poured out and handed to the lady the salt water. One taste was sufficient to turn her stomach, and nothing would make her believe that the fun-loving major had not played the trick upon her purposely. The major now thinks that practical joking is not so very funny after all.

GREAT LUMPS OF GOLD.—J. J. Fagan, formerly of this city, came back yesterday from the Cœur d'Alene gold fields, and brought with him two most substantial specimens of the output of that section which he was exhibiting all the afternoon to admiring knots of people along First street. One specimen was a piece of quartz half the size of a hen's egg, which was thickly studded with gold nuggets and worn smooth by the action of water. It was worth in the neighborhood of $75 or $80, and, as a bystander remarked, "made a fellow feel like packing up and going to the mines right away." The other specimen was smaller, but was a nugget of almost pure gold, worth at least $40. "The quartz," said Mr. Fagan, "was picked up in Dream gulch, and the nugget was washed out of the Badger claim. I bought them to bring back and show people in San Francisco, where I am going before I return to the mines."

THAT OIL ORDINANCE.—Councilman Gerdes explains that the ordinance introduced by him at the last meeting of the common council was not intended and will not work any hardship upon storekeepers or others. The faulty wording of the ordinance gave the impression that no one would be permitted to keep in his store or place of business more than forty-five gallons of any kind of oil. This is preposterous, and nothing of the kind ever was intended by the councilman. The intent of the ordinance is to prevent the storing of more than forty-five gallons in any one receptacle. That is, a person may have any number of cans or small barrels of oil in stock, but may not store it all in one great tank, which in case of a fire would be most dangerous. The ordinance was introduced at the request of ex-councilman Hewett, on behalf of the insurance companies.

MCCOY WINS THE FIGHT AT BUTTE.—Answering numerous inquiries about the McCoy-McDonald fight at Butte last Monday, the following epitome is given: Three thousand persons assembled to witness it. N. B. Ringeling acted as referee. Thirty-one three-minute rounds were fought, Marquis of Queensbury rules, time, one hour and thirteen minutes. McDonald drew first blood, but McCoy got the first knock-down. McCoy was knocked down three times and McDonald four times. The latter was badly punished about the face and neck. On the thirty-first round McCoy got in a left hander on McDonald's neck and knocked him out of time. McCoy was around in the evening, but McDonald was in bed, and no one was permitted to see him.

FINED $100 FOR VAGRANCY.—Judge Moreland yesterday sentenced H. R. Johnson, convicted of vagrancy, to pay a fine of $100. His counsel gave notice of appeal, and his friends are confident that he will gain his suit in the circuit court. It remains to be seen whether he can. That he has no honest means of making a living he does not attempt to deny, but thinks the fact cannot be proven by the city. It is to be hoped that as this is a test case it may be decided without unnecessary delay, so that if it is settled that such worthless and dangerous fellows as Johnson cannot be punished by our laws, the city may know it and take the necessary steps to secure their punishment or absence by other means.

MAKING AMENDS.—In reporting the accident to Miss Louise Pomeroy at the New Market theater, some time ago, the impression was given that the breaking of her ankle was the fault of the stage carpenter. This was an injustice to C. B. Parleman, who, though having no grievance, told a reporter yesterday how it happened. The descent from the balcony was by a firm, substantial set of steps. Miss Pomeroy, in descending, thought she had reached the stage, when there still remained one more step. It was this sudden and unexpected stepping down that turned her ankle and broke the bone.

SPEAKING AT ST. HELENS.—Hon. Geo. W. McBride addressed a large meeting at St. Helens on Tuesday evening, on the political issues of the day. Every seat in the court house was filled, and all the standing room in the house occupied. Mr. McBride reviewed the statement of Mr. Myers, discussed the tariff question at some length, and closed with a tribute to the patriotism and statesmanship of the republican party, which elicited enthusiastic applause. At the close of his speech Mr. McBride proposed three cheers for Hon. Binger Hermann, which were given with a will.

GONE TO REST.—Rev. J. James of Dallas Polk county, died on Monday evening last, and was buried on Thursday by the Masonic fraternity, of which he was an honored member. The remains were followed to the cemetery by a large procession of friends, preceded by the Masons in full regalia, headed by the second brigade brass band. Father James came to Oregon in 1865. His funeral sermon was preached by Dr. T. V. B. Embree of the M. E. Church, south. He leaves a wife and seven children (six of the children were present) to mourn their loss. He was a few days over 70 years of age.

ATTACHMENTS ON THE HOLLADAY PROPERTY.—Four lots in East Portland belonging to Mrs. Ben Holladay were attached yesterday by Labbe Bros. to secure the payment of their claim against Ben Holladay, to recover which suit was commenced in the circuit court a day or two since. A $20,000 attachment was also looking around yesterday trying to attach itself to the Holladay estate, to secure the payment of a judgment awarded S. G. Elliott some years ago.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE CIRCUS.—It always pays to have a good name before the public, particularly in the way of amusements. W. H. Harris, proprietor of the Nickel-plate circus, thought so last night when his large tent was packed to the door and the cashier turned in $3300 as the receipts. Last year he went through the valley late in the season, and closed at Roseburg, just having paid expenses. He opened at Roseburg on the 3d, came back over the same route, was favored with good weather, and yesterday had a handsome balance, which he turned into exchange on Chicago. There isn't much to the menagerie feature, but what there is is worth looking at. No man or woman or boy wants to look at a string of cages filled with sacred cows, great Australian wallapuses, zebras and deer when a circus is holding forth in the next tent. They want to see the performance, and lots of it. Harris furnishes lots of it. Those of us who have been to every circus that has come along for the last thirty years, and remember what kind of shows they used to give "back east," found little that was startlingly new. That was because we are blasé. But old and young were on hand, and they will go again, simply because they can't help the fascination of a ring and sawdust and spangles, and canvas tents, and circus music, and clowns, and gymnasts and riders. They know there's really nothing in a circus, but they go just the same. May be it's force of habit.

Little Daisy Belmont is developing remarkably, and has improved on her fine juggling and balancing of last season, and she does a bareback riding act with much daring and grace. Monsieur and Madame Josephs do a number of wonderful feats with cannon balls, and in gymnastics there is about everything a person wants to see. The boneless Healey brothers, the Irwin brothers on the horizontal bars and with Roman ladders, the Belmonts on the trapeze, and the usual tumbling. George Charest rides a bicycle on a slender wire without a counter balance, at imminent risk of breaking his neck. "Senator," the stallion, is in much finer form than last year, when he was suffering from burns; how a magnificent animal, finely trained. The customary amount of stale comedy is introduced. Two performances, afternoon and evening, will be given to-day and to-morrow.

"OUR STRATEGISTS."—Notwithstanding strong counter attractions, "Our Strategists" reopened to a fair house last night at the New Market. Since the first engagement, Mr. Bray's song, "Papa's Baby Boy," has found its way into nearly every home in Portland containing organ or piano, has been "orchestrated," makes a most beautiful waltz and was played at several hops. It has grown into popularity, and last night Mr. Bray had a hearty reception and an enthusiastic encore. "Our Strategists" will be given to-night, to-morrow night and at matinee to-morrow. The company leave Sunday for England.

J. F. Howe, manager of Whitley's "Hidden Hand" company, a standard attraction who have been playing through the east for four years past, leaves for the Sound and Victoria in the interests of his company who will play there and return to open here on June 9th.

"Pop" will be here June 2, for one week.

Don't Invest in Quartz Milling Machinery

Until you have investigated Salmon's Pulverizer, and the Little Giant Crusher. Since these machines have been improved and perfected, quartz of all kinds can be reduced to an impalpable powder at a cost for machinery not to exceed one tenth of what it will cost to do the same amount of work by any other known process. These machines are beyond the experimental stage and are a grand success, destined to revolutionize the milling business and to place the working of quartz within the means of small capital.

THE MINING CAMPS AS THEY NOW APPEAR.

Stories of Placers and Ledges, and Somewhat Concerning Lucky Portland Men—Jackass Trail—The Widow and her Companion—Worship in Camp.

EAGLE CITY, May 18.

It is sunny and warm here in camp this morning and the miners, some of whom do not go out to work because it is Sunday, are sitting around outside talking over the new "finds." In the streets here are chips from hewn logs where there were great banks of snow when I left the camp in April, and we all know how it adds to sociability to sit with feet on the chips when gossipping in the sunshine Sunday morning. Occasionally "Ben" or "Tom" or "Dave" comes out of his cabin or tent opposite, rubbing his eyes open with his "good morning," and adding the latest he has ascertained to the common stock of information.

There is plenty of gold to talk about this morning. In fact, I have been seeing and handling gold ever since I arrived in Beaver gulch Friday afternoon and was lifted off my horse by Alan Dennison who loafed along slowly with me on the trail from Jackass, while the pack and saddle train went on. I find a broken hip is as bad to ride horseback with as it is to walk with, and my day in the saddle was a hard one for me, as we climbed up and crept down the mountains. The others went on without hardship, and my horse never once lost his footing. He was a small claybank cayuse, picked out of the lot for me by Captain Peeks, who had been on his back before and knew his good qualities. The new trail from Beaver to Osborne was not then completed (as it now is), so we rode down the mountain at a pitch as steep as anything short of a sheer precipice. I looked back at it and shuddered, and felt relieved and happy as we went over the well-trodden path from Osborne to Eagle, meeting old friends as they were starting out prospecting and stopping now and then to give them the news from the outside. There is no snow in camp nor underfoot on the trail. On the northern side of some of the highest mountains we crossed there were walls of snow rising each side of the trail, and as there is no wavering place on the entire sixteen miles from Jackass to Beaver, our horses had a way of reaching around to the bank and shoveling out a mouthful of snow with their under jaws. This seemed to afford them much gratification, though Dennison said it added to their thirst. Up in the snow on the north side of one of these mountain peaks is a solitary dweller in his tent, with a keg of whisky and some cans of salmon and here travelers stop for a bite of his bread. He wants no gold mine. He wants but little here below, and wants that little in cash. He is obliging, withal, and will kick a pack-mule that is trying to roll off its load as heartily as though he owned it, and this brings the cunning animal to its feet. I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than undertake to boss a train of pack-mules, and I say this without any desire to go into the doorkeeping business. A pack-mule can swell up bigger when being cinched and shrink smaller when he wants to get his load off than anything that is noted in the variations of the moon's phases. It is something wonderful, if not fearful. I had this fellow in the tent pour a glass of whisky down my back and keep all the joints from becoming permanently set in the shape of a saddle, and so lived through the experience. I can recommend it as a good way to take whisky.

In Beaver there has never been anything done in the way of building a town. There are a few stores and saloons, corrals for the animals, and a lodging house where for a dollar you can sleep between two blankets and use your own clothes for a pillow. Here, as night came on, I was joined by Capt. A. E. Cannon of Spokane Falls, Mr. Dodge of Rathdrum, and a Mr. Marshall from Victoria. It was an agreeable and sympathetic company, for the reason that Cannon had a backache somewhat akin to mine, and Dodge broke his cot down. The breakfast cost a dollar. In fact, one needs no coin smaller than a dollar in Beaver gulch. The drinks are only a quarter, to be sure, but there are always three other fellows ready to join in, and this makes the even dollar.

Here I found the camp in somewhat of a flutter over a rich strike made by two young men named Steel and Rounds, and I became excited along with the others when I found that a Portland man came in for one-third of the great good luck—this is Mr. James Steel of the Willamette savings bank, and the rock and accompanying report caused Dr. Gibson to send a telegram which will probably bring Mr. Steel up here. It is a rich strike—there is no doubt of it—and it is one of those palpable finds that sets everybody talking. The pieces of rock I saw were loose, partially decomposed quartz, carrying free gold in amazing quantities. The ledge strikes the old timers as one that will hold out.

The main excitement is over the placers around Murrayville and the ledges thereabouts all along in what is known as the Summit mining district. Judge Claggett reserves and has the thanks of those about him for the formation of this district, now turning out to be so rich. It is up around Murrayville that those holding claims are hardest at work and wherever a man has gone to bedrock on the Pritchard he has struck pay-dirt. The water is getting out of the way and much work is going forward that will do more to help the camp, supposing the good luck in going to bedrock holds out, than all the generalizing and big story telling that has been or can be done.

Reider gulch, named for old man Reider, who has been in it for a long time, is one of the places where gold is being taken out at a rate that is very encouraging. Up in the gulch and near by over a hundred claims were taken and recorded in one day last week.

These new locations are some of them in what is known as the old channel, which is north of Pritchard creek and has been traced for a distance of five or six miles. Very many who had not tried any ground, though they have been in camp all winter, have begun prospecting in this old channel. The gravel is very coarse, and in digging it out some of the prospectors find good-sized nuggets before washing. One prospector took a bag up yesterday and brought down what made five pans, out of which $7 50 was taken. Water can be led around from above to the old channel, but there is none there now. There is just enough of mystery as to whether this was ever the bed of an old creek or not, and just enough of certainty about all the gravel that has ever been taken down and washed to make the old channel claims very fascinating. Burke's claim, up there, has averaged $1 58 per pan; and seventy-five pounds of old wash on another man's claim that I know of yielded $9.

Buckskin and Missoula gulches are showing up big results for the day's work done on them, and, it seems to me, there ought to be more work going forward in the lower end of the gulch, around Eagle. Of course there are good claims held by men who cannot open them sufficiently to in any way demonstrate their richness. A poor man must wait for those around him, as two or three thousand dollars are sometimes necessary to make a showing. Just now is the beginning, correctly speaking, and the beginning is good. There are some in camp who blame Saxon for not booming the mines in previous letters, but these are not the "solid men" of the camp. They do not want the mines boomed. On the occasion of my other visit there were no great showings; now there are, and those who have stood by and waited, working through a season of doubt and discouragement, will reap a harvest I hope and believe.

Dr. Lang Chapman, son of the mayor, has what he calls the "Margaret," a silver bearing ledge on the left-hand fork of Eagle creek, eight miles above Eagle City, and he has a good standing offer for it. Dr. Carpenter, a scientific friend of mine, who to my surprise came all the way from Louisville, Ky., has made two assays from young Chapman's mine and finds one showing $310 55 to the ton, and the other $319 57. Now everybody who knows anything about it knows that this is good; and I know that dozens of ledges as good as this have been struck. I know of some of such, but there is no information in unknown names. Steel and Chapman, and the other Portland men, all readers of this will know, and very soon the truth of these statements will be familiar enough.

The Dream Gulch boys are digging a ditch just now, and even in this one found $5 in a pan the other day. I saw them yesterday in the Ainsworth & Hawkins bank. They were paying off a man in dust, to the extent of $200. In the bank was plenty of dust, and Mr. Hussey of the Eagle bank showed me some shipment figures that astonished me. Most of the dust is sent to the assay office at Helena, and I have taken steps to find out definitely how much has been received there from this source.

In Eagle there are more houses than when I left here six weeks ago, but it is not as lively here as in Murrayville. The business men are doing fairly well, and those who remain in camp have money to spend. Many have gone to the hills. Of these enough return every night to fill up the saloons and make the street lively; but many do not come into town at night. From the principal street of Eagle, looking toward "Old Baldy" and up Eagle creek, camp fires can be seen at night dotting the mountain side and glittering from near and far to a distance said to be sixteen miles away.

Hundreds of pack animals arrive in camp each day, some over the Belknap and Thompson trails, but mostly over the Jackass trail from the steamboat landing. By a change of time, there is no delay and every comfort by the steamboat route. One can leave Spokane Falls in the morning and land in Eagle or Murrayville the next afternoon without fatigue. Kingston, where the boat lands, blooms with business, and will do even better now that, by the change of time, the boat stays there over night. I slept there in a new "shake" house, upon which the roof had not been put; but the bed of evergreen boughs and cedar twigs was good, made down by my old campmate, Sanburn. I preferred it to the lodging houses, though they are good. At Kingston prices are not high; and, indeed they are not so high in Eagle as at Beaver, where the dollar is the coveted unit in all transactions. In Eagle a good dinner may be had for fifty cents, and other things in proportion. The wagon men keep on with their poleing of batteaux up the North fork, carrying bacon, flour, eggs and other things, and the competition in business keeps prices down. Here there is neither hardship nor extortion, as mining camps go. One ambitious man has planted some potatoes, cabbages and onions on a ranch taken up between the old Mission and Kingston. His name is Henning, and he calls his place Henning's Landing. There is a town site laid off; but the prairie is an inviting one, and he is making tries of permanency by planting cabbages as well as town-lot stakes. Of course the success of the mines will insure the success of all collateral and accessory schemes; and the old-timers say next year up there will be much better than the present season. They concede that this summer will be given to prospecting and placer operations. The country is not half prospected yet.

Writing of the "Shake" house at Kingston reminds me of a queer craft that has been built here of "shakes." It is a boat on the catamaran plan with a three-foot stroke wheel in the middle, to be turned by a crank, without gearing. Or, to speak with the accuracy of a waggish friend, to be run by four cranks—two of them to turn the two wooden ones. The water runs at the rate of from six to eight miles an hour, and the query is, how can two men turn the wheel fast enough to prevent the current from carrying the whole catamaran outfit down stream.

The widow (Mrs. Ellington) arrived in Eagle from her camp down by the sawmill on the day of my arrival. She is accompanied by a young lady from Chicago—Miss Robinson, I think her name is. This Miss Robinson is a romantic young woman who conceives it to be her duty to care for Mrs. Ellington. She was a school teacher in Chicago, and came to this section on reading of the widow and her misfortune when she broke her shoulder at the Mission last winter. She works in a restaurant to pay her board and is resolutely independent of assistance. I hear nothing but good reports of her, yet I wondered all the more, as I saw her walking through the street in her jaunty cap and tight-fitting black dress, why she should come to such a place. I hope she has definite plans and will succeed. The widow says she does not contemplate litigation. She lives in a semi-regal state in a room behind Hawkins & Ainsworth's bank, where many of her old miner friends call to see her. Portlanders they will combine and make a new widow this for luck."

There was a meeting to-day in an unfinished building, where the Rev. Mr. Shippen preached a good old Methodist sermon, and the widow helped a dozen who sat on benches, as all hailed the power of Jesus' name, and angels prostrate fell. I sat on a bench opposite talking with Johnny Miller, and looked with interest at the curious and apparently devout group. As we sat there a fellow came along who wanted four bits. He said he had eaten nothing for two days, and so I gave him the four bits. Then I looked after him as he sneaked into an adjacent tent and spent it for whisky. Ten minutes later he was sitting on a bench with the little group of worshipers, and with them he rose and in a clear baritone sang with the others of that "Rock of ages, cleft for me." That drink evidently gave him the impression that he had struck a new ledge.

SAXON.

BRIEF MENTION.

Circus again this afternoon and evening.

Z. J. Hatch received $500 in dust from Cœur d'Alene yesterday.

Extensive preparations are now being made for the proper observance of Memorial day.

The Columbia arrived in San Francisco at 12:55 yesterday morning, making the trip from port to port in 43 hours and 45 minutes.

The Snake at Riparia fell 3 inches yesterday; the Columbia at Umatilla rose 4 inches, at Bonneville 12 inches; the Willamette at Portland rose 8 inches.

The suits of McCraken & Mason and I. R. Dawson against Rieber & McKinnon, which came up in the state circuit court yesterday, were dismissed, their payment out of the insurance money having been secured.

James Gowerlock, one of the proprietors of the Portland Iron Works, on the corner of Thirteenth and N streets, had both feet badly crushed Wednesday by the fall of a heavy iron lintel he was aiding others to lower.

It is hoped that friends of the W. C. T. U. generally will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Mrs. Leavitt, spoken of elsewhere in these columns, at the W. C. T. U. hall to-night and to-morrow night. Admission free.

There will be an excursion to Vancouver to-morrow evening. The steamer A. A. McCully and a commodious barge will leave the foot of Salmon street at 7:30, giving all who desire a chance to spend an evening on the river.

The service in Hill's hall, Albina, next Sunday evening will, in view of Decoration Day, be a memorial service. The hall will be appropriately decorated by the Grand Army post of that place, and the discourse by Rev. W. O. Forbes will have reference to the occasion.

Ground was broken yesterday at the corner of Front and Jefferson streets for a new two-story frame building, with stone foundation, for Jacob Kamm. The building will be 50x100 feet, with stores below and lodgings above, and will cost about $7500. It will be completed in about two months.

There was a small circus on First street at an early hour yesterday morning, which did not draw much of a crowd, but made things lively for the participants. Nine men were leading a fiery, untamed buffalo, whose plunging and pulling nearly jerked their arms out. The shaggy monster of the plains did not like the Belgian pavement.

S. L. W. Duggen, the hod carrier who threatened to kill Mrs. Bailey, had a trial in the police court yesterday. He denied the statements of the witnesses, and told a rambling story of the affair. Harry Garr testified that Duggen was not of sound mind, his aberration being caused by smoking opium, etc. The case was taken under advisement.

The friends of temperance and the public generally will remember the pleasant and intelligent face of Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt of Boston, Massachusetts, to whom a reception was recently tendered at the Taylor street M. E. Church. We are happy to announce that this lady, who came so highly recommended by Miss Frances E. Willard and others of eminence, will lecture at the hall of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, on Washington street, between Front and First, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. She is said to present the subject of woman's suffrage from an entirely new standpoint, awakening a deep interest on the part of opponents as well as its advocates. We bespeak for her an enthusiastic house.

THE SHOOTING AT CHAMPOEG.

A correspondent at Champoeg sends the following particulars of the shooting, on the 18th instant, at that place, in which S. L. Jones was dangerously wounded by R. H. Osborn:

Their farms are adjoining, and Osborn's horses had been jumping into Jones' field, whereupon Mr. Jones turned them into the road which passes through their farms, and then proceeded to Mr. Vandoren's, a tenant on Mr. Osborn's farm, to see if he would not help repair the fence, thereby preventing further trouble; and just before Mr. Jones left for home, while talking with Vandoren, Mr. Osborn came up and accused Jones of turning his (Osborn's) horses on his meadow. Jones denied doing anything of the kind, when Osborn said, "You are a g—d d—d lying s—b!" Jones answered, "I'll knock you down." Osborn retorted, "I'll shoot you." Then Mr. Jones turned to pick up a stick, and as he rose Osborn fired at his head, but missed him, and ran off a few feet, then turned and fired again, the ball entering the breast bone and passing through and coming out at the back part of the right lung, lodging just to the right of the spinal column. Dr. Cauthorn of Gervais was called and dressed the wound, and is thus far succeeding well, and now entertains considerable hope of his recovery.

Mr. Jones is one of our best and oldest citizens, having crossed the plains in '52, and residing here in this place thirty years. The citizens and neighbors feel very indignant.

Osborn's preliminary examination took place to-day before Justice Hopler, and he was placed under $3500 bonds for his appearance at the session of the grand jury in Marion county next month.

P. S.—May 22.—Mr. Jones' condition seems more favorable for recovery, yet it is very critical, being a man of 71 years.

ALL ABOUT LOST LAKE.

HOOD RIVER, May 22.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

In a late issue I noticed a short article on Lost lake that was not wholly correct. Lost lake is not on Mount Hood at all, but is situated about ten miles a little north of west from the mountain, and about twenty-three miles from the Hood river station.

You have also mixed up two corporations in one. The bill introduced by Mr. George is for a wagon road to Lost lake, and not to Mount Hood, to be built by the Lost Lake and Columbia River Manufacturing Company, and is designed especially for their own benefit, they calculating to build a mill there, and flume to connect them with the Columbia river. The Mount Hood Trail and Wagon Road Company are building a wagon road direct to the snow line, which they propose to open by the 15th of June next. By this road the snow line can be reached in about eight hours' drive from the O. R. & N. Co.'s depot. The terminus of this road is on the northeastern slope of the mountain on the head of the middle fork of Hood river, and from which a trail is to be built running along the north base of the mountain at the snow line to Lost lake, connecting with a trail already built to Hood river station. This makes a complete circle for the horseback tourist, and a more delightful one cannot be imagined. Lost lake abounds with trout, and is in the midst of the huckleberry region. Mount Hood, with its glaciers and tremendous canyons, must be seen to be appreciated, and every one who can spare time and means should make the trip. Due notice will be given of the opening of the road and facilities of travel.

NOTES FROM HERON.

HERON, M. T., May 20.

Fred Weeks continues blasting away and sinking on his ledge, which is near the Nelson & Bradley lead, but a different character of rock entirely.

Quirk & Bradley are constructing a wagon road from Heron north to the Clark's Fork river, about a mile, and have a ferry on the river to connect with the mines north of town.

Last night Charles Morton's store was visited by thieves, who made an entrance by cutting out part of a window in the back part of the store. They carried off a lot of tobacco, cigars, etc., amounting to about $200 worth.

T. E. Whitfield, late paymaster on the western division of the Northern Pacific railroad, has returned to his old business, the office of paymaster being abolished, of passenger conductor between here and Wallula junction.

W. J. Quirk & Co., who were maliciously reported as having failed, are doing a steady increasing business. Trade is picking up on account of the many parties outfitting here lately to go prospecting in the mountains north and south of here. Also many railroad men are locating here with their families.

Nick Bluerock & Co. are clearing a tract of land between the town and the river with the intention of raising berries, melons, vegetables, etc. They will also have a pleasure garden by the river for the people of Heron and all visitors who love the wild, grand old mountains and the cool, rippling, trout-filled, mosquito-fringed streams to enjoy themselves in.

Nelson & Bradley got a return last week from the sample of rock that they sent from their mine to have assayed. The assay was made by J. McVicker, Salt Lake City. It was 70.41 ounces of silver, traces of gold, no lead nor copper. This, considering it was surface rock, is very fair; in fact better than was expected. The rock taken from the ledge lately, about fifteen feet deep, looks far better than that sent to be assayed.

Dan O'Neil and his partner returned to-day from a prospecting trip northwest of here. The part of the mountains they were in was very craggy rocky and steep; the place unquestionably was never visited by white men before. O'Neil and his partner are very enthusiastic over the mineral prospects of "the craggy district," as they call it. They say that good looking silver float rock, from pieces as small as an egg to as large as a box car, are strewn all over the country; that it would be unnecessary to obtain a ledge there, as there is enough of float rock in there to pay well. They claim to have discovered a ledge 700 or 800 feet wide. Some of the rock that they brought in from the mammoth ledge is a grayish quartz, spotted with iron rust.

J. T. Wisenburg, the trusty messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co., who contended with so many hardships and ran many risks of his life when carrying express through these rough mountains, in all kinds of disagreeable weather and amongst all grades of toughs and hard cases—men who would not hesitate for a moment to knock a man in the head or put a hole through him if they thought that they could get away with it when the Northern Pacific railroad was being built through these mountains, is now daily riding over the same ground where he experienced so much wild and hazardous excitement, in a comfortable express car. A few of the old timers that were at the front of the Northern Pacific, that are still here, will remember him as "Buckskin Joe," as he was then called. Those days he wore a full suit of buckskin, with a pair of huge revolvers and a long bowie knife in his belt at all times. Every day, through sunshine, rain and snow, one could see Buckskin Joe, seated on a dead-ax wagon, jolting over the rough road, with a short double-barrel shotgun across his knees and a determined look in his face, peering in every direction. A road agent would need to have extra good nerve to demand the treasure box of Buckskin Joe as he then appeared.

BARRETT VS. FAILING.

The case of Barrett vs. Failing, which was tried before Judge Deady in the circuit court and the bill dismissed, (See 6, Sawyer, 473,) was appealed by Barrett to the supreme court, where the decree of Judge Deady was affirmed on May 5. Mr. Justice Gray delivering the opinion of the court. The following syllabus of the opinion sufficiently explains the case:

A divorce from the bond of matrimony bars the wife's right of dower, unless preserved by the lex rei sitae.

Under § 495 of the Oregon code of civil procedure, as amended by the statute of December 20, 1865, providing that whenever a marriage shall be declared void or dissolved the party at whose prayer the decree shall be made shall be entitled to an undivided third part in fee of the real property owned by the other party at the time of the decree, in addition to a decree for maintenance under § 497, and that it shall be the duty of the court to enter a decree accordingly, a wife obtaining a decree of divorce in a court of another state, having jurisdiction of the cause and of the parties, acquires no title in the husband's land in Oregon.

THE EAST SIDE.

REPUBLICAN RALLY AT SELLWOOD.

The mass meeting at Sellwood last evening was a grand success. The meeting took place at the hall of the Jim Blaine republican club, under whose auspices it was given. The hall was filled to overflowing, many being unable to gain admittance. A. H. Tanner made the first speech, excelling all previous efforts. He ably reviewed the history of both parties since 1860, and was repeatedly interrupted by enthusiastic applause. He spoke about forty-five minutes. E. J. Dahms made one of his rousing speeches, and though brief was to the point and told effectively on the audience. J. E. Mayo, candidate for the legislature, and [illegible] N. Sanders also spoke briefly upon the current political issues. At the conclusion of the speaking George B. Dorris, president of the club, made a motion pledging the support of all present to the entire republican county and state ticket, and the motion was carried by a unanimous rising vote. Three rousing cheers were given for the ticket and the crowd dispersed after one of the most lively and interesting meetings of the campaign.

STREET-SPRINKLING SCHEME.

It is refreshing to hear a move is being made for sprinkling the streets in the business portion of East Portland during the heated term. John Eaton, of the East Portland Truck Company, has been offered water for this purpose by the water company at a nominal rate; and, provided he can get the necessary encouragement from the business men, he will undertake the enterprise at once. He proposes to place the subscription at a figure sufficient only to cover the necessary outlay and labor, so that no reasonable excuse can be made for withholding support from the enterprise, which everyone will admit is a very desirable one.

MEMORIAL DAY EXCURSION.

Tickets for the excursion to Vancouver under the auspices of St. David's guild, can be had at the post-office and C. Barrell's grocery store in East Portland, and at the following places in Portland: C. W. Cornelius' drug store, corner of First and Stark streets; Morse's art gallery, corner Washington and Second; Pacific boot and shoe store, No 109 First, and W. B. Ayers & Co.'s, 21 First street.

"THE PEAK SISTERS."

The ladies of St. David's guild are sparing no pains to make the entertainment of the "Peak Sisters" a very enjoyable affair. It is certainly a very unique entertainment, and will be of special interest because of its novelty and freshness. A full house is assured.

ROBBED.

A stranger who had lost his balance and also, as he claims, his loose cash, amounting to $95, was gathered in by Officer [illegible] yesterday morning. He could give no clew, however, as to how or when he was robbed, as he claims, and the only consolation he can expect is the wisdom he should gain by his experience.

Mr. S. Bullock will leave this morning to join his wife and daughter, who are visiting at Corvallis. They will return home Monday night.

An excellent programme is prepared for the musical and literary entertainment which occurs at the congregational church this evening.

The ball of Martha Washington Circle, No. 3, D. of L. occurs at Kopsach's hall to-night. The most complete arrangements have been made for the entertainment of their friends.

"GREEN SAILORS."

Statements from Chaplain Stubbs.

A paragraph in this [illegible] ing OREGONIAN concerning the crew of the Sumner R. Mead seems to compel a few additional statements respecting the crews supplied to other ships. In one of Portland's publications a few months since [illegible] stated that "the maritime interests of the world are jeopardized by the sailor boarding-house keepers and their allies." As it respects Astoria and Portland and some ports on Puget sound, this fact has been notorious, as numerous shipmasters can testify.

Concessions made to [illegible] this combination for whatever cause only nourish its imperviousness and audacity. I am therefore constrained to submit a few statements that may result in some combined action by parties, most deeply interested in Portland, Astoria, Seattle, Tacoma and Port Townsend. Local legislation, municipal and state, and congressional action seem to be requisite to cope effectually with this powerful combination which despoils and menaces the vast commercial and maritime interests of this northwest coast. I shall not attempt to fully outline the wrongs perpetrated by the sailor boarding houses. A few statements will give an idea of the annoyances and embarrassments and losses to which shipowners and merchants and insurance companies are subjected.

WITH REFERENCE TO [illegible] TRAFFIC IN SHIPS' CREWS.

The records at the offices of the United States shipping commissioner and the foreign consuls in our city and Astoria will show that nearly four-fifths of all seamen entering the Columbia river in foreign ships are induced to desert. Even before vessels reach Astoria from the sea, despite the remonstrances of captains, they are boarded by runners from these boarding houses, who tamper with the crews, incite them to insubordination and induce them to desert. The sailors are assured of lucrative employment on farms and in canneries. Liquor is freely dealt to them by these self-styled friends of seamen, and thus they are persuaded to go on shore with their baggage and are taken to places provided, with all the needful adjuncts and helpers to prevent their escape. Often in less than twenty-four hours they are put on board other ships outward bound, whose crews have in similar ways been induced to leave.

When the demand for seamen exceeds the supply, then the "greenies," so called, are "roped in" by ways that are dark, and placed on ship's articles by most villainous methods, and put on board ships—not a few [illegible] way many an unsuspecting countryman in Portland is decoyed and sent to sea as mariners, when in fact they cannot tell a pump bolt from a marling spike. To more effectually consolidate their power and to pool their interests, these boarding houses operate through a self constituted shipping master, to whom $6 must be paid by ship owners for every sailor that is shipped by him. The man has no men to ship except those furnished him by those sailor boarding house keepers, who obtain their supply as above described. He has no boarding house, and runs no risks. He is a middle man, whose province it is to assure every ship master that he cannot get a portion of his crew from the mariner's home without imperiling his prospects of obtaining a full complement. The idea is sedulously circulated by those who employ him that if any ship master takes a part of a crew from that institution, he must not expect them to supply any deficiency.

With this understanding the supply of crews is looked upon as the rightful prerogative of the houses that employ this shipping master. Hence he ships men from these [illegible] patrons according to their wishes, by whom the [illegible] wages, the amounts of advance and blood money are fixed. But neither they nor their shipping master give any guarantee that the men they furnish shall be able seamen.

THE EFFECTS OF THESE ARRANGEMENTS.

1. Captains are expected to pledge that they will take their crews from the sailor boarding house keepers and hold themselves ready to comply with the terms they shall propose, otherwise when the supreme hour arrives for the vessel to depart they will be subjected to yet more exacting rates.

To illustrate: Two or three months since a magnificent ship was about ready to sail. About twenty seamen were needed. The terms to supply a crew were: Wages, $30 per month; the amount of advance, $80, and $40 blood money for each man furnished; i. e., over $700 in blood money and $1200 on advance wages were paid for the men. At the same time wages in San Francisco were $20 and $25 per month and no blood money. These extortionate terms were accepted. What were the results of yielding to these demands? The captain reported that he had six seamen out of the eighteen men for whom he had paid the above sums.

In your paragraph printed this morning you cite similar facts as to the character of the crew furnished the Sumner R. Mead. Other ships I could enumerate on which "green sailors" have been shipped to the places of able seamen, and for each of whom the blood money and advance money has been paid and the fee to this self constituted shipping master.

Surely it is no exaggeration to say: "The maritime interests of the world are jeopardized by sailor boardinghouse keepers and their minions." Imagine, if you can, what the condition of these ships manned with these green sailors would be in any of the numerous emergencies that arise on a lee coast or in a sudden squall or stress of weather. Then, too, their costly ships and valuable cargoes' have [illegible] expect—and masters whose owners who rightfully [illegible] to make good passages; ambition and duty [illegible] the quality of such crews fills time is money. But [illegible] giving. Nor dare they press the officers with [illegible] and ought to be pressed or their ships as they [illegible] every stitch of canvas before the venture to hold on a [illegible] last endurable minute. So time increasing gale to this is lost, needless delays occur, the ship has to be babied because of the [illegible] on board, who have been shipped for seamen, and money is lost to owners and charterers, and often to insurers.

[illegible] SUMMARIZED.

On the part of [illegible] vexation, chagrin and disappointment; on the part of [illegible] crews, incapacity and wrongs; on the part of owners and insurance companies, increase of risks not [illegible] and needlessly augmented losses; but on the part of the sailor boarding house folks fraud nourished for the next season by the gains realized from the past season.

In conclusion, I have done what I could to break down this nefarious business, and not wholly without results. But I must say no one man can effectually cope with this gigantic fraud; its ramifications are too numerous; its agents are too unscrupulous and its fruitage is too lucrative for its principals and their abettors.

Only corporate and combined action can break up these practices, correct these wrongs which cry to heaven for vengeance. In the interests of humanity and of the world's marine I speak and plead.

PORTLAND, May [illegible]

The "Most Popular Candidate."

New York Evening Post.

There is something almost pathetic about the way in which the Blaine organs continue to argue and remonstrate with the independents for their attitude toward Blaine. Every time anybody says it will be folly to nominate Blaine, since the independent voters will not support him under any circumstances, these organs have a fresh attack of distress, and ask how it can be possible that the "most popular candidate" in the party is singled out for such cruel treatment. Over and over again this question of "popularity" has been argued; but always with the same unsatisfactory result. If Blaine advocates say the most popular candidate cannot be elected, what reason is there for saying that a less popular candidate is sure to be elected? Simply, dear friends, because these dreadful independent voters rate fitness and integrity in a candidate higher than they do "popularity." There are several men in the republican party to-day who have no popularity worth mentioning, in your sense of the term; yet if they are nominated at Chicago, even you will not deny that their election would be almost a matter of form. Tweed said on a certain memorable occasion, when a city election had gone overwhelmingly against him: "There are a good many elections in which money is of no account whatever." There was such an election in this state in 1882 and one very much like it again in 1883. In the first there was the strongest influence and money on the republican side, but a majority of 192,000 on the democratic. In the second there was no money on the republican side, no patronage, no influence, and absolutely no campaign, yet the democratic majority of the previous year almost totally disappeared because the republican ticket was so clean that it almost elected itself. A clean ticket this year will elect itself; but there is no power of any kind which will be equal to the task of electing an unclean ticket, no matter what may be its "popularity."

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, May 22.

In the week two cloudy days were had, but no rain fell. Crops are growing finely, and no uneasiness is felt regarding them. Continued warm weather has prevailed, and melting snows have swelled the rivers. At 8:20 A. M. to-day the total rise at the different points was as follows: Riparia, 13 feet 10 inches; Umatilla, 19 feet 10 inches; Bonneville, 21 feet 6 inches; Portland, 15 feet, 6 inches.

FREIGHTS—The week has developed little of new interest. But one arrival is to be reported, the small iron bark Jessie Jamieson having come in for salmon to London. The only near at hand vessel is the bark Coloma from Hong Kong, and she does not belong to the wheat fleet. The Sumner R. Mead has completed a wheat cargo and is ready to sail. The Henry Villard is fast filling up with flour and the Ifets with wheat. The Coldsworth and Eskdale are receiving wheat and flour, the former to finish this month. Both have salmon options. The Abergeldie with Castle and Norseman have nothing in as yet. At Astoria the Jamieson has gone into loading berth. Our fleet en route foots up but 19,706 tons, and is not increasing at present. Vessels in port available for wheat are the wooden ship Red Cross, asking 42s 6d for orders, wooden bark Jorsalfarer and iron ship Tychonus, holding for a better market. The general tendency of the market is toward higher rates, yet this is conceded to be slow to come. In futures no confirmed accounts of business can be obtained, and it is altogether probable that very little has been done. The splendid prospects for a large yield of wheat in California keep holders of tonnage there firm, and rates are asked which do not allow any margin to exporters on the present English market; hence few engagements are reported of late. Some effort has been made to charter ships with long lay days, in expectation of holding them until new wheat arrives. The estimate of 1,500,000 tons of wheat for export is probably high, as early estimates too often are. But all probabilities favor a large yield, as the acreage sown is large and weather altogether favorable. Tonnage headed to this coast is 30,000 less than in May, 1883, while the tonnage at the ports is enough larger to offset the on route shortage.

WHEAT—On spot a slow market has obtained. Both shippers and millers have presented an indifferent front, and buyers have met them with almost equal indifference. Several lots have been presented more as feelers than to be sold. A small quantity of valley changed hands at $1 45, and this is the top offer. Offers of $1 35 sent into the Walla Walla section brought out 10,000 bushels from one point, and doubtless other lots could be had at that figure. The export movement is slow, as tonnage cannot be had at rates to admit of a profitable shipping business. Receipts have been small, yet fair, for the season and situation. The English markets lost a sixpence early in the week, but show signs of improvement to-day. The quantity afloat increased 185,000 qrs during the week. None of this increase is Pacific coast wheat, as arrivals out have overshadowed clearances. Nor has much of it been out of Atlantic ports. The New York market has extricated itself from an unsettled condition and gained one of steadiness. Chicago last Thursday was 83½c for June. During the week it fell to 87c, then advanced to 91¼c. San Francisco reports an absence of any request for shipment and the milling demand is light with $1 55 the extreme for choice whites. Business in futures has been spasmodic, but generally light with values weak.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon) and Canada May 14 was down to 21,194,300 bushels and of corn 12,128,100 bushels, against on the preceding weekly exhibit an aggregate of 22,464,800 bushels wheat and 13,001,820 bushels corn; and an aggregate of 20,707,500 bushels wheat and 16,108,400 bushels corn at the corresponding date the preceding year.

FLOUR—Standard brands are generally held steady at $4 75, although some are accused of cutting this rate. The local demand continues good, and shipments to the Sound are of the usual proportions. Very little is now going to San Francisco, as the export movement is closed. Gibson, Church & Co. despatched two full cargoes of Oregon flour from San Francisco. Outside brands are in ample supply at irregular values.

MILLSTUFF—Supplies are up to requirements, and the market moves along quietly. We quote jobbing prices: Bran, $14@16; chop $22 50; middlings, $25@30. Ground barley has weakened to $24@25 under large offerings and lower first values. Oil meal sells at $35.

OATS—Offerings have been small, but at the close show some increase. A choice feed lot sells at 48c, with less desirable qualities at 45@47c. Stocks are not large, but the request is light.

POTATOES—For a common quality of old dealers pay 50@60c per bushel. An extra choice quality does slightly better. New California in some movement at $1 75 per cantal. The market wears a slow tone, as only a local demand is to be satisfied.

ONIONS—Choice old are scarce and jobbing at 3½c. New California not much sought at 1½@2c, as their strength is not conspicuous.

FRUIT—A palatable Oregon apple is a scarce article. Oranges sell at $4@5 50, and the general quality shows up better. Sicily lemons firm at $6. Bananas $3 75@4 per box. California cherries sell at $2 25 per box, and are on the decline.

VEGETABLES—Cabbage sells at 2½c per lb; cauliflower $1 25 per dozen.

BUTTER—A good portion of the local coming in is in bad order and far from attractive. Good roll is quoted at 16@20c, although choice to fancy brings 25c and over. California roll and eastern tub sells at 25c.

POULTRY—Chickens have ruled weak for three days under large arrivals. We quote $4 50@5 50. Ducks quoted at $10@12, with choice fat doing better. Geese neglected at $9@10. Turkeys bring 16@18c in a small way.

EGGS—Consignees tried hard to keep up values, but the last day or two has witnessed unexpected arrivals, a good portion of which bear the stamp of age. To-day dealers dropped the price to 20 cents, after quoting a strong market at 22½c all week.

HIDES ETC.—Advices quote dry hides off half a cent. Pelts are readily sold. Dry selected hides quoted at 18@19c; culls 12@12½c; green salted 7@8c, with small request. Tallow weak at 6@7c for common.

CHEESE—Best qualities sell at 15@16c, and inferior at 12@14c.

DRIED FRUIT—Market steady, as it is supplied by importations. We quote: Sun dried apples, 9@10c; factory cured, in boxes, 15@15c; eastern, in barrels 10c; pears, in boxes, sliced, 15c; plums, in boxes, 16c, and sun dried, in other packages, 13@16c; peaches in sacks, 13@14c. Oregon prunes, 12c; others, 8@8½c; figs, 9c. Raisins show an advancing tendency at $1 75@3 per full box.

PROVISIONS—Dealers report lessened stocks with steadier values. Chicago markets are in better feeling. We quote: Bacon, 11½@12½c; country cured hams, 13@14c; best local cured, 16@17c; eastern, 16½@17c; shoulders, 8@9c. Lard steady. Best local in tins, 13@13½c; common do, 12c; kegs, 11@12c; eastern pailed, 13½@14c for best.

HAY—A steady and quiet market is had for timothy at about $18, prices varying but little from this.

When wheat went below 75 cents per bushel in Chicago, a speculator who had put $30,000 into the cereal at 5c or better, rushed up the street in search of a friend. Having found him, he gasped out "H— you heard of it?" "Yes, wheat is down. That's all, I presume?" "All! All! Why, I may be ruined before 3 o'clock. For heaven's sake advise me!" "Oh, you want advice? Hedge, sir, hedge." "But how?" "Why mortgage your house and lot, and either invest it in lottery tickets or buck a faro bank!"—Wall Street News.

IF AND IF.

"If you are suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, take cheer; if you are simply ailing, or if you feel weak and dispirited without clearly knowing why, Hop Bitters will surely cure you."

"If you are a minister, and have overtaxed yourself with your pastoral duties, or a mother, worn out with care and work, or a man of business, or laborer weakened by the strain of your everyday duties, or a man of letters, toiling over your midnight work, Hop Bitters will surely strengthen you."

"If you are suffering from over-eating or drinking, any indiscretion or dissipation, or are young and growing too fast, as is often the case."

Or if you are in the workshop, on the farm, at the desk, anywhere, and feel that your system needs cleansing, toning, or stimulating, without intoxicating, if you are old, blood thin and impure, pulse feeble, nerves unsteady, faculties waning, Hop Bitters is what you need to give you new life, health, and vigor.

If you are costive or dyspeptic, or suffering from any other of the numerous diseases of the stomach or bowels, it is your own fault if you remain ill.

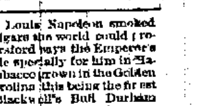
If you are wasting away with any form of Kidney disease, stop tempting death this moment, and turn for a cure to Hop Bitters.

If you are sick with that terrible sickness, Nervousness, you will find a "Balm in Gilead" in Hop Bitters.

If you are a frequenter, or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all countries—malaria, epidemic, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

If you have rough, pimply, or sallow skin, bad breath, Hop Bitters will give you fair skin, rich blood, the sweetest breath, and health. $500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help.

That poor, bedridden, invalid wife, sister, mother, or daughter, can be made the picture of health by a few bottles of Hop Bitters, costing but a trifle.



The Emperor Louis Napoleon smoked only the finest cigars the world could produce. Prof. Horsford says the Emperor's cigars were made specially for him in Havana from leaf tobacco grown in the Golden Belt of North Carolina, this being the finest leaf grown. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is made from the same leaf used in the Emperor's cigars, is absolutely pure and is unquestionably the best tobacco ever offered.

Thackeray's gifted daughter, Anne, in her sketch of Alfred Tennyson, in Harper's Monthly, tells of her visit to the great poet. She found him smoking Blackwell's Bull Durham Tobacco, sent him by Hon. James Russell Lowell, American Minister to the Court of St. James.

In these days of adulteration, it is a comfort to smokers to know that the Bull Durham brand is absolutely pure and made from the best tobacco the world produces.

Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best and purest made. All dealers have it. None genuine without the trade-mark of the Bull.

POISON

In the blood is apt to show itself in the Spring, and nature should by all means be assisted in throwing it off. Swift's Specific does this effectively. It is a purely vegetable, non-poisonous remedy, which helps nature to force all the poison or taint out through the pores of the skin.

Mr. Robert A. Easley, of Dickson, Tenn., writes, under date March 10, 1884: "I had chills and fever, followed by rheumatism, for three years, so that I was not able to attend to my business; had tried almost every kind of medicine and found no relief. A friend recommended Swift's Specific. I tried one bottle and my health began to improve. I continued until I had taken six bottles, and it has set me on my feet, as sound and well as ever. I recommend it to all similarly afflicted."

Letters from twenty three (23) of the leading retail druggists of Atlanta say, under date March 24, 1884: "We sell more of Swift's Specific than any other one remedy, and three to ten times as much as any other blood medicine. We sell it to all classes, and many of the best families use it as a general health tonic."

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific relieved me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age.

C. G. SPENCER,
Sup't. Gas Works, Rome, Ga.

I have known and used Swift's Specific for more than twenty years, and have seen more wonderful results from its use than from any remedy in or out of the Pharmacopœia. It is a certain and safe antidote to all sorts of Blood Poison.
